This is the Western alphabet translation of the original Hebrew language alpha-numeric table for the numerological practice known as ‘Gematria.’ For any names or words which contain the letter ‘W’, the letter ‘V’ is used twice, with the resultant value of 1400.

To Calculate Using the Gematrian Alpha-Numeric Table:

1. Write each name of the full name (such as John Jacob Carruthers), or each important word of the phrase (such as ‘a worthy competitor’-you’ll only use the words worthy & competitor) in vertical columns on a sheet of paper, then write the Gematrian number value beside each letter.
2. Add up the number values of each letter in each word as a sum. When you have all the number values of each name or word in the phrase added-up, stack-up the results of each into another arithmetic problem, then add up the numerical result of all as another sum.
3. The end result of this final sum is the one from which you will be doing the character (and/or destiny) analysis. If the result is a four-digit number and the first-place number is a 2 or higher, you will disregard the 2-or-higher number completely, and go with only the three remaining numbers. Otherwise, if the first digit in a four-digit number is a 1, assume it is referring to 1000, unless the result is specifically one of the other four-digit numerals in the Table of Significations on the following pages.
4. You will break down the three remaining digits into hundreds, tens, and single digits. If, by chance, the remaining three-digit number, or ten-place-and-single-digit place number is one of those listed in the Table of Significations, you will give first-preference to the specific Table of Significations meaning, and not the two-place or single-digit meaning (unless, of course, you want to consider the two-place or single-digit meaning in your overall character analysis of the subject).
