

TABLET OF THE CHARMED CIRCLE

*For questions concerning the not-yet-married.
Not to be consulted more than five times a year.*

RULES:

The inquirer, with their eyes closed, holds the pointer, tip down, toward the chart while another unmarried person is to turn the chart twice in a counter-clockwise direction. The inquirer then brings the pointer down onto the chart wherever they feel drawn to point it.

Since the rays of the Charmed Circle are considered to radiate outward to infinity, anywhere the pointer lands on the chart is considered to be within the boundaries of an answer. Simply trace a straight line back from where the pointer tip landed toward the eye in the center of the diagram. The number by the eye is your answer. This chart should not be consulted more frequently than five times a year, or roughly once every two-and-a-half months.
