

TABLET OF THE COILED SERPENT

To be consulted in times of trouble, when beset by enemies, or when fearful that storms are brewing further along the highway of one's life.

To be consulted only once every 90 days.

RULES:

The inquirer sits or stands before the tablet, eyes closed and tip of the pointer aimed down at the diagram, while another participant turns the tablet three times in either direction. With eyes still closed, the inquirer then points to whatever part of the diagram to which they feel drawn.

If no coil of the snake is chosen on the first attempt, then inquirer should lay the tablet aside and not make another attempt to consult it for 36 hours.

If the inquirer does succeed in obtaining an answer from the Tablet of the Coiled Serpent on their second attempt 36 hours later, they are instructed wait a period of at least 90 days before consulting it again. If they don't succeed in obtaining an answer on their second attempt, they must again wait a period of 36 hours before attempting to consult it.
