

THE WISHING RING

Pointer

For answering questions concerned with the fulfillment of wishes.

To be consulted once every 49 days.

RULES:

Designed for use as an independently spinning wheel with pointer, the previous page may be printed out on card stock, cut out and secured together with a pin or brad and then consulted.

This diagram may also be consulted in the same manner as one of the tablets of fate. If going with this latter option, then the inquirer sits with their eyes closed and the pointer poised above the diagram while another participant turns the chart five times. As the other participant is doing this, the inquirer is supposed to recite aloud the following: 'Spirits of the Wishing Ring, Tell me what the Fates may bring.' Then with eyes still closed, brings the pointer down on the chart.

Or, instead of someone turning the chart, they may place the chart on a lazy-susan, give it a spin and recite the rhyme above while it spins, then choosing a point on the wheel when it stops.

If the inquirer lands on a line between sections, then the time for questioning is not yet ripe, and they should wait 24 hours before trying again. If the inquirer obtains an answer, then they are not to consult this chart until another 49 days have passed.
